A Minority Challenges The Nation—

"nothing must stop the work of organizing the unorganized in America—not even a great national emergency."

Cheers greeted this declaration of President Philip Murray speaking before the CIO national convention in Detroit.

Mr. Murray is only partly right. When a national emergency exists and the work of organizing halts vital defense industries, then Mr. Murray is wrong. How much better it would have been to put a period after America. But like so many fire-eaters of the John L. Lewis type, he just had to be impolitic and add another thorn of irritation—"not even a great national emergency."

The whole attitude of the CIO leadership in the current captive mine dispute appeared to have been utter defiance of the president and public opinion. Of course the work of organizing need not be abandoned. Labor never had a better friend than President Roosevelt, and he would be the last one to permit irrational management to obtain a throat-hold on labor during the national emergency. The public was beginning to believe that this whole unpleasant affair stemmed from John Lewis' personal animosity toward Mr. Roosevelt.

Emerson wrote: "Shall we judge a country by the majority, or by the minority? By the minority, surely."

The world will judge this nation by the antics of the CIO minority if it allows its defiant leadership to dictate to the president of the United States, to dictate to public opinion. One strong man behind a minority makes its cause strong, but not necessarily right. One strong man behind a majority in Mr. Roosevelt's case, makes the latter's cause invulnerable.

Silent and patriotic Americans must awake to immoderate challenges hurled at our president, at our country, at ourselves. It is time to put on our thinking caps. If we are in such mental sluggishness that we cannot evolve an original thought or opinion on the present emergencies, the least we can do is to recall what past great Americans have given us for guidance.

Said Theodore Roosevelt: "The only tyrannies from which men, women and children are suffering in real life are the tyrannies of minorities."

Said Oscar W. Underwood: "The great mass of the people are in more danger of having their rights invaded and their liberties destroyed by the overweening influence of organized minorities, who have fanatical or selfish interests to serve, than by the force of an unthinking or cruel majority."

Said Edmund Burke: "When bad men combine, the good must associate; else they will fall one by one, an unpitied sacrifice in a contemptible struggle."

In the present instance one might have concluded that CIO leaders had been edifying themselves reading the verse of an American poet, Fitz-Greene Halleck and, by misunderstanding it, adopted it as their motto:

"Strike—till the last armed foe expires;
Strike—for your altars and your fires;
Strike—for the green graves of your sires;
God—and your native land!"

There is a grain of satisfaction in the knowledge that the captive mine controversy shall now be submitted to arbitration. It is a hopeful sign that there may be a revival of sanity among the CIO policy barons.

He Served His Fellowmen—

A man should be busy doing good during the days given him for physical and mental activity notwithstanding that service to one's fellow men often does not receive recognition throughout a man's lifetime. In the declining years of Dr. Edwin F. Yancey, although he may not have heard it or been aware of it, his fellow Sedalians invariably paid him tribute whenever his name was mentioned.

On the day his final call came, men in all walks of life, in the home, on the streets, in the places of business remarked: "Dr.

Yancey died last night." And when this was intoned upon the ears, it carried with it a significance far above the mere statement of his death. It implied recognition of the passing of a good and worthy citizen whose many unrecorded acts of service and kindness left an enduring impression upon the hearts of many. These are the deeds that remain in perpetual recollection.

War On Against Winter Driving Hazards—

A wet snow indicates the first onslaught of winter. Anticipating the attack, the war department and police chiefs of 36 northern states declared "war" on "Old Man Winter."

The entire nation is urged to establish a public safety front to withstand winter driving hazards that may increase accidents and loss of man hours that will hamper national defense activities.

Sedalians may contribute their bit of co-operation by paying attention to dangerous driving conditions during and immediately after severe snow or sleet storms. Reduce your speed, maintain adequate vision with windshield wipers and defrosters, necessary traction by use of tires with treads or chains when the latter is advisable—OR ELSE DON'T DRIVE.

Watch out for the menace of carbon monoxide. Tightly closed auto windows and garages encourage this silent partner of death.

A Lesson For The Loose-Tongued?—

For long years Sedalia has been very democratic in its tolerance of conditions that have branded it as a wide-open town. As is usual with such laxity of law enforcement, some engaged in disregarding the law came to believe that the law couldn't touch them. But it did. And as the clamor for reprisals dies down, perhaps there is a lesson to be learned. One cannot be too hard-headed about expecting immunity, or too hot-headed when they have their wings clipped. Those who indulge in too much curbstone conversation had better learn to say politely: "Quiet, please!"

Higher and Higher

The United States is spinning dizzily toward higher productive activity than it has ever known before.

The rate of the national income as measured by the total payments of money to individuals was such in September as to lead to expectation of a $92,000,000,000 national income for 1941. That is a full 10 billions above the former banner year of 1929, and 17 billions above the figure of last year. Those are Department of Commerce estimates.

At the same time manufacturing activity is reaching new high peaks every month. Such production registered 124 on the index of the Alexander Hamilton Institute for 1940, and is now on the way to a figure of 161 for 1941, which would also be the largest on record. The index was only 110 in 1929.

All this means that we must prepare for a bigger country than ever before. The old way of looking at things won't do any more. It is a bigger country in every way. Our 133,000,000 people are more numerous by 10 millions than they were in 1929. We have developed new techniques and skills. Production ought to be greater and the national income ought to be greater.

Thus, to an extent, there is no reason to be afraid of these new high peaks. They were inevitable, they should be permanent. Production and national income will probably far exceed those of this year—they must, if our great armament effort is to be successful. But some such level as has been attained this year is tomorrow's normal, a normal which we should already have attained anyway.

It is a time to think big—to think of growth and expansion, of dynamic programs. Any other course is decline and death. Instead of feeling a little dizzy at our present pace of production, we must become accustomed to think of it as normal, and be prepared to make emergency efforts far in advance of anything yet achieved.

A sort of giantism has seized on the world. Somehow we must learn to think of the physical world, its work and production, its social organisms, its governments and wars, on the largest scale, and yet at the same time we must learn to segregate apart from all these giant things the little germs of personal life, the mighty essence of our individual souls, that they too may not be swallowed up in the giantism of society. The two must be combined; neither can be ignored if life in the future is to be worth living.

Looking Backward

J. B. Quigley announced yesterday that he had abandoned plans for the consolidation of the water, gas, lighting and street railway plants of the city, and the proposed construction of several lines of electric railway to nearby towns.

W. B. Miller, who has been employed at the McLaughlin Brothers store for the past 11 years, has resigned his position to take charge of the managership of the Home Tea and Coffee company, 510 South Ohio avenue, which he recently purchased.

G. W. Schweer, secretary and manager of the Missouri Union Telephone company, Windsor, announced today that a joint meeting of the independent telephone companies of central Missouri will be held in Sedalia, December 3. The place of meeting will be named by F. A. Churchill, manager of the local Queen City Telephone company.

Charles Boiz, editor of the Sedalia Journal, John Boos, manager of the St. Louis Waechter, and Joseph Sailer, publisher of the Jefferson City Post, arrived in Sedalia last night from St. Joseph, where they attended a convention of Republican editors of Missouri.

WASHINGTON—John L. Lewis was two years old when his family, in Lucas, Iowa, participated in a labor strike. He was seven years old when he left school to work with his father in the mines. He was 21 years old when he left home to roam through the mining areas of the far west, and later to become a tough union organizer.

Fabulous stories were told about him even at that time: that he ate three raw beefsteaks for breakfasts, that he had once felled a mine mule with a blow of his fist, that he pounded on the desks until trembling state legislatures passed the labor laws he demanded.

In this mythology was a certain core of truth. John L. Lewis got what he wanted by letting no man stand in his way, and he gloried in that reputation.

Furthermore, he was fighting mine owners who were just as tough as he, and frequently more ruthless; men who were culling the cream of the country's coal without regard to the future; men who would rather see entire cities cave in than spend money on mine props; men who made the green hills of Pennsylvania and West Virginia dreary and desolate with piles of black waste.

It took a tough man to fight for the miners in those days and John L. Lewis was equal to it. He lifted the wage level in an industry which desperately needed lifting, and the miners have been forever grateful.

Roosevelt Saved Lewis

In 1933, however, John Lewis was very near the brink. The depression had closed mine after mine. Almost half his miners were out of work. Non-union miners had taken over great areas. And his treasury was almost flat.

The story of how Roosevelt saved him, and adopted a liberal labor program, is too well known to need retelling here. And with that new surge of power, John L.'s old egoism soared to fuller and greater heights. He was crusading for labor, it was true; but it was a personalized crusade which was wrapped up in the glorification of one man.

The fact that John L. bought out the University club in Washington and transformed it into a wood-paneled sanctum as ornate as any big business office along Wall Street was relatively unimportant. It indicated however, his personalized rule over the miners. The United Mine Workers always had been a one-man machine, but now John L. reached out and built up the CIO. And the CIO became a one-man machine.

For instance, when Carl Holderman, head of the New Jersey CIO fired a suspected Communist, the latter came to Washington and got a job from John L. Lewis' CIO headquarters, which promptly assigned him right back to New Jersey as an organizer where he could embarrass Holderman.

The miners liked to think of their chief as sitting in a huge office and riding in a limousine as long as any mine owner's; but many times during recent years they have sat in the outer office holding their hats, while "Their John" spent his time negotiating strikes in CIO unions which had no relation whatsoever to the Mine Workers.

Lewis' CIO Empire

This is one thing the miners have not liked. However, they have not known much about it. They have not known in any detail, for instance, that "Their John" has used miners' funds to organize other unions. Probably they did not know that he financed a man to operate inside the Newspaper Guild, a union far removed from the coal industry.

This was how John L. continued his great personalized power. He maintains it also by playing close to his district coal leaders. They eat out of his hand. And he feeds them well.

Not many miners knew it, but shortly before the present strike was called, Lewis summoned his district presidents and gave them an unexpected and handsome boost in salary, from $6,000 to $10,000 a year. With the boost, Lewis warned them he would expect them to collect the increased dues and see that the men stood behind the expected strike in the captive mines.

These district presidents are the men who keep the miners in line locally, and operate Lewis' personal machine. And with lush pay from the hand of their master, they seldom fail to do his bidding.

John L. has other means of keeping his glorified ego in the driver's seat. One is elections. When it is announced to the press that the miners have voted to stand behind John L. Lewis, it does not necessarily mean that the great mass of miners have voted. It usually means that a little group of hand-picked Lewisites at the top have carried out orders.

Elections in the United States of America have come to be a sacred mandate, jealously guarded. Even inside big corporations today there is supervision of elections. Many state laws require that when a corporation votes on an important issue affecting the public, not merely a majority, but two-thirds of the stockholders must approve.

No Inspection of Books

But the voting in John L. Lewis' powerful organization is above state or federal regulation. There is no public supervision to see how the vote is taken.

Likewise there is no outside supervision of John L. Lewis' books. The books of Sidney Hillman of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers, or of David Dubinsky of the International Ladies Garment Workers, are subject to inspection. Every telegram and stamp is accounted for. But no outsider, except his immediate friends and family, can tell for what strikes John L. Lewis spends the United Mine Workers' money.

Today, the head of every big insurance company is subject to state and government regulation. So are the banks. They are semi-public institutions. The funds and fate of many people are involved. The unions also are great public institutions. John L. Lewis has at his command an army three times the normal peace time army of the United States. The U. S. Army is subjected to the strictest supervision from the War Department. Everything it does, every cent it spends is checked and double-checked not only by trained public servants, but by both houses of Congress.

But John L. Lewis has a private army of his own, subject only to his command and drilled by the little group of district presidents whose salaries he so conveniently raised.

The Congress of the United States is subject to re-election every two and six years. The president can be turned out every four years. But John L. Lewis has been in office around twenty years, and no miners' group has had the power to oust him.

In other words, the CIO czar, who calls Roosevelt a dictator, himself has dictatorial powers which no other one man in this country can equal. He has the power to stall national defense. He has the power to play into the hands of Hitler. And most tragic of all he has the power to crucify the patriotism and progress of the workingmen whose champion he is supposed to be.

As a result, all of the labor gains made under Roosevelt may now vanish on the wave of Lewis' recalcitrance.

Let's pitch in. Let's get this thing over.—Donald Nelson, SPAB.

They (the Nazis) get compliance when they shoot the relatives of those who rebel. But this way can be but temporary. Our way is better.—Dr. Victor G. Heiser, physician and author.

Ed J. Evans, well known Sedalia insurance man, was honored by the Firemen's Insurance Company of Newark, N. J., at a dinner in the Ambassador room of Hotel Bothwell, Wednesday evening, in recognition of his forty-four years of service with that company.

Guests included executives of the company, and a few of Mr. Evans' close friends, who had been invited by the company to join with him on this occasion.

Clyde Tindall, Kansas City, state agent for the Loyalty Group, presided as toastmaster, and short impromptu talks were made by many of the guests.

Mr. Evans was pleased at the recognition by the company in honoring him with the dinner, and was not only pleased, but very much surprised when he was presented with a handsome desk set, lifetime pen and pencil, with stand, by W. B. Alaback, of Chicago, vice-president of the company.

The name of Ed J. Evans to Sedalians means insurance, and reliability, a reputation he has carried with him during the many years he has been in the business.

Born in Boonville Mr. Evans came to Sedalia at the age of five, with his father, the late Dr. E. C. Evans and family. He is a graduate of Kemper Military School, Boonville, and has been engaged in the insurance business since June 1, 1896. On December 1, 1914, he moved into his present office, at 111 West Fourth street. The building was new and he was the first tenant.

Queries of all sorts and descriptions pour into the Chamber of Commerce from time to time, and one of the recent ones has to do with a contemplated matrimonial alliance.

A resident of Cheyenne, Wyo., announcing intent to get married in Sedalia in a communication asks: "Does the couple have to have a blood test taken? Do they have to wait a given number of days, or are your laws like here in Wyoming—get the license from the judge and he will marry the couple at once if they desire. If there be any cost for the desired information let me know and I will send the amount asked. We are both past thirty years old, so you will know I have the right to ask."

The request was readily complied with, giving the following information:

Plus Signs Are Held By Some Stocks

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Labor shadows continued to cloud recovery tendencies in the stock market today and about the best the list could do at the finish of a fairly successful week was to maintain its balance. Peace in the coal strike was announced long after the close.

Steels inclined to slip from the start as the mine stoppage and scrap shortage threatened to cut mill operations sharply. Rails held fairly well but were unable to extend their Friday's recovery to any great length as some pessimism arose over a nearby settlement of the carrier wage dispute.

On the side of bullish forces were cheerful reports of the British push in Africa and another batch of pleasing corporate dividends and earnings statements.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was unchanged at 46 but on the week showed a net advance of 3. It was the first upturn in this barometer in four weeks. Large blocks of low priced issues helped put the volume to 364,270 shares, best Saturday aggregate since May 10. It compared with 353,910 a week ago.

Plus signs were retained by General Motors, N. Y. Central, Great Northern, Goodyear, United Aircraft, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, Texas Co., Kennecott, Du Pont and American Gas.

Losers included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, Woolworth, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Western Union, Union Pacific, Westinghouse, General Electric, Eastman Kodak, Boeing and U. S. Gypsum.

Minor advances predominated in the curb. Dealings here approximated $3,000 shares versus $3,000 last Saturday.

Recovery Trend To Grain Market

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—(AP)—After an early fractional dip in prices, the grain market struck a recovery trend today, wheat leading with gains ranging up to 1/4 cent.

Most of the early weakness was in sympathy with losses of 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 cents in soybean prices at the opening. Selling was associated with favorable weather for harvesting of late beans and corn.

Buying on the rally was stimulated by forecast of some precipitation in parts of the grain belt and trade belief that cold weather may halt late seeding of winter wheat in many areas.

Wheat closed 1/4 to 1/2 cent higher than yesterday, December 1.14 1/4, May $1.20 to $1.20 1/4; corn 1/4 off to 1/2 up, December 73 1/4 to 74, May 79 1/4; oats unchanged to 1/2 down; rye unchanged; soybeans 1/2 to 3/4 lower and lard 5 to 10 higher.

Chicago Live Stock

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—(AP)—U. S. Department Agriculture—Hogs—Salable receipts, 400; today's market nominally steady, quotable top, $10.45; compared with a week ago mostly 15 to 20 cents higher; sows 15 to 30 cents higher.

Cattle—Salable receipts 100, calves 100; today's market nominal; compared with Friday last week, all grades weighty steers 50 cents to $1 higher; strictly choice yearlings strong to 25 cents up, but medium to good kinds 50 cents higher; fed heifers 25 to mostly 50 cents higher for week; cows 50 cents to $1 up; bulls strong to 25 cents higher and vealers fully steady; choice to prime long yearlings topped the week at $12.90; common and medium killers 25 to 50 cents up; stock cattle active, 25 cents higher.

Sheep—Salable receipts 2,500; today's market nominal, compared with Friday last week, native and western lambs 45 to 60 cents higher; yearlings gained 25 to 50 cents, while slaughter ewes closed strong; week's top native lambs, $11.55; westerns, $11.75.

Lee M. Gentry Top Man In Agriculture In Illinois

Lee M. Gentry, of the state of Illinois, son of the late N. H. Gentry, of this county, and a brother of Mrs. C. L. Patterson of Sedalia, was the subject of the following story, sent out by the Associated Press, from Decatur, Ill. His wife is the former Christine Spencer of Sedalia.

Lee M. Gentry, the top man in Illinois agriculture, is a "practical farmer."

That description was given by former Governor Frank O. Lowden, who for 20 years has hired Gentry as the manager of the 4,500-acre Sinnissippi farm in Ogle county.

Gentry still is the Lowden farm manager, but he has two bigger jobs—the state chairmanship of the AAA and "Food-for-Freedom" committees.

Farming Background

A laboratory accident kept Gentry, the son of one of Missouri's most prominent stock breeders, from a medical career. He was a Farm Bureau organizer before he went to the Lowden farm, where soil conservation was practiced long before it became a government policy.

"Mr. Gentry has a farming background. He has lived on the soil," says the 80-year-old owner of Sinnissippi.

It was there that Gentry met Henry A. Wallace and Claude R. Wickard.

First Chairman

Wallace as secretary of agriculture appointed him the first chairman of the state agricultural adjustment administration committee in 1936. Sinnissippi farm was the first had been an AAA cooperator. Gentry was the first chairman of the Ogle county association. Then he was a field man, slated for the state chairmanship, under the corn-hog control program invalidated by the supreme court.

Secretary Wickard last summer made Gentry chairman of the state USDA farm defense board, dedicated to getting Illinois farms on a maximum production basis under the slogan that "food will win the war and the peace."

Busy At Two Jobs

From his Decatur office and on speaking tours up and down the state, Gentry puts in busy weeks at his dual jobs. But on week ends he goes back to the home outside Oregon, to look over the fertile land along the Rock river and to climb the white pine covered knolls.

Gentry comes from a family of Democrats. Lowden was Illinois' Republican governor during the world war and twice sought the Republican presidential nomination.

Mr. and Mrs. Claud Box, of Parkville, were Saturday night guests and Sunday visitors at this place. Mrs. Box visited her mother, Mrs. John Carrol, and sister, Nellie Stinson. Mr. Box enjoyed a quail hunting trip.

Mr. Claude Stephens, is still very ill at his home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Merkin, of Kansas City, spent the weekend with Mrs. J. H. Ruppert.

Local Funeral Firm Is Charter Member of Order

In starting their fourteenth year of affiliation with the Order of the Golden Rule, the Gillespie Funeral Home organization reminds us that they are charter members of the Order.

This is, undoubtedly, a real distinction, for the Order was just a small organization of a few-score funeral director, when the Gillespie firm sought and qualified for admission. Since that time, the Order has grown tremendously, to the point that it now has members upon five of the six continents. At the beginning of the present war, there were more than a score of members in the British Isles alone.

The principal purpose of the Order, we are informed, is to identify in each community a funeral firm pledged to the principle embodied in the motto of the Order: "Service Measured Not by GOLD but by the GOLDEN RULE." Except in the very largest communities, only one member is accepted in each community, and while the Order does not make the claim that its member is the only dependable and reasonably priced funeral director in any community, it does definitely claim that its members, wherever found, are funeral directors who have been approved by the community they serve, and who may be depended upon to render the utmost in funeral service at a price within the means of those served.

SLIGHT PRESSURE CHANGES TEETH

When a tooth is extracted, those on either side will shift toward the open space. The long continued pressure of braces on teeth will change their position. Obviously these pressures, which move these teeth, are very light but are continuous.

It is also true that curvatures subluxations of spinal vertebrae are in many cases caused by very light pressure but it is CONTINUOUS PRESSURE.

If one leg is 1/4 inch shorter than the other, the base of the spine will be lower on that side and the bottom vertebrae will shift a little to that side thereby starting spinal distortion which, as it gets worse, increases the pressure and a more rapid development of a curvature.

The sooner one can recognize these conditions, the easier corrected. Even though there is no apparent distortion it would be a very wise thing to take X-Ray pictures of every case in their early teens and if abnormality is found correct it then and prevent future disease.

SOMETHING A MAN NEVER TELLS A WOMAN

A man never tells a woman that he doesn't like the Christmas present she's given him. If he thinks it's terrible, he just smiles like the good sport he is, and says thanks. But deep down in his heart he's disappointed, just as you are when somebody gives you something that isn't right. Now the formula for making a man happy is very old—but it is worth repeating.

OUTFITTERS FOR MEN AND WOMEN

No Shortage in Stamina

THE needs of the defense program decide how many Buicks we can build for you in 1942.

But there is no limit on how well we may build with the materials at our command.

So we invite you to look upon this car not as you would any ordinary new model, but as an unusual vehicle built to square with unusual times.

Check into the strength we have forged and hammered and wrought into the frame, the chassis, the drive.

Look into the everlasting comfort which is provided in soft, all-coil springs.

Dig into the engine, and see how resourceful engineering has stepped up the efficiency of valve-in-head design with Domite pistons and FIREBALL compression — how it also enables you to conserve fuel while actually getting more power through Buick's exclusive Compound Carburetion.

You may have little interest normally in things like connecting rods and main bearings and wheel rims.

But it is of utmost importance now that Buick knew how to strengthen rods for heavier duties without increasing weight — that Buick found a way to oil-finish crankshaft journals so as to double bearing life under equal loads.

Little of this special ruggedness shows in the suave outward look of this trim and steady-rolling Buick—the beauty you see there is merely the garnish on the solid substance beneath.

But examine such structural details and we believe you'll quickly discover one fact:

While there may be a shortage of cars and of materials from which to make them, there's no shortage in stamina in the cars Buick builds.

And what is more important in any car these days?

M. U. Tigers Want A Bowl Bid

Run Roughshod Over Jayhawks In Annual Tilt

Golden Glove Tournament Will Be Held

Undefeated Tigers Win Second Title In Big Six Since 1939; Defeat Kansas 45-6

BY CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

LAWRENCE, Kas., Nov. 22—(P)—Missouri, its T formation ticking off dazzling long runs with the regularity of the falling snow and rain, touched off a glorious, undefeated Big Six football season today with a dynamic 45-6 triumph over Kansas.

A few minutes after the game the Tigers voted to accept a bowl bid if one were offered.

More than 14,000 homecoming fans huddled in the stands as the two teams fought their 50th anniversary game on a mud-covered field. The players dripped with gumbo and even wrapped towels around their necks to keep it from trickling under their shoulders.

Largest Winning Score

It was the largest winning score ever made since these two schools started their grid series in 1891, one of the nation's oldest rivalries.

Despite the slick conditions, the Tigers, ranked No. 1 running team in the country, tore through the Jayhawks for 449 yards, scoring twice in the first and third quarters and three times in the last.

It was Missouri's eighth straight victory, giving it a second Big Six title since 1939 and arousing more than ever talk of a post-season bowl game.

Thrills created by the Tigers' terrible trio, sophomore Red Wade, Harry Ice and Bob Steuber sent more shivers through the spectators' spines than the frigid north wind which blew a blizzard across the stadium in the third quarter.

Score In 90 seconds

Only 90 seconds of the game had been played when Ice took a lateral pass from halfback Harold Adams and wheeled around end for 46 yards. Three yards from the last stripe he turned and handed the ball to tackle Bob Brenton who went over for his first touchdown in three years of college football.

Five minutes later, high-stepping Steuber kept the lethal lateral attack alive by tossing to fullback Don Reese for a gain of 35 yards. Then Steuber skipped around end after getting a shovel pass from Adams and was off to 47 more yards before Kansas' Ralph Miller jolted him out of bounds on the 3. Two more plays and bounding Bob crashed over from the one.

The game was featured by long runs such as these, with slippery Ice averaging the amazing sum of 30 yards in eight carries, Steuber 15.8 in 10, and Wade 4.75 in eight. Add them together and you have most of the answer to mighty Missouri's voltage machine.

A Kansas Touchdown

In the third quarter Kansas intercepted one of Missouri's laterals for its only touchdown and became one of the few teams to score against the Tigers, whose rock-lined forward, bristling with such stalwarts as captain and center, Darold Jenkins, Brenton and guard Bob Jeffries, has held nine opponents to only 25 points.

Miller filched the lateral from Adams and darted 21 yards for the tally. Don Ettinger, sophomore fullback, failed on a placement for the extra point.

The Jayhawks threatened again in the final quarter on an inspired aerial thrust by sophomore Ray Evans. He returned a kick-off 35 yards, speared Ettinger twice in succession for a 43-yard gain and the Kansans eyed glory ground from seven yards away. But Missouri found a footing in all that mire and in four plays had given the Jayhawks only one yard.

Missouri's Touchdowns

Missouri's other touchdowns came this way: In the third period, Adams shoved the ball to Ice on one of the T tricks and Harry scooted over for 57 yards. Three minutes later the same play clicked, this time Adams handing the ball to Steuber who galloped around end for 55 yards.

Missouri, aided by a 45-yard run by Ice, was on the Kansas 23 when the quarter ended, and on the first play of the final Wade crashed through tackle and into pay mud. In five minutes, Ice had sparked a 40-yard push in four plays. Then he broke out of the T for 30 yards, lateraled to Rayburn Chase in front of the goal. Chase got it but was grounded on the 4. In three plays, Adams dug over.

After the kickoff, Wade stole Evans' pass and Joe Flavin, Missouri sophomore air pilot who has been under wraps most of the season, heaved the wet pigskin 40 yards to end Jack Morton who stepped over.

Steuber placekicked three extra points.

Ohio State-Michigan Deadlocked 20-20

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 22—(P)—Ohio State's Buckeyes and the Michigan Wolverines ran over one another today, depending upon which team had the ball, to finish in a 20 to 20 tie before a capacity throng of 85,753.

The even parades of offensive power split second-place honors in the Western conference between the two one-beaten teams as they finished the season.

Ohio's plunging backs smashed over for a couple of touchdowns, Jack Graf from the four-yard line and Tom Kinkade from the one, and Graf passed 20 yards to Dick Fisher, who scampered 30 more for the third score. John Hallaborn kicked the first two extra points and missed on the try for the third.

Scoring honors were similarly divided among the Wolverines, with Bob Westfall plunging over from the five-yard line, and Sophomore Tom Kuzma powering across from the one-yard marker. Kuzma passed 15 yards to End Harlin Fraumann for the other Michigan score. Bill Melzow converted twice and kicked wide on the third.

Little Rock Will Hold Rock Bowl This Year

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Nov. 22—(P)—The M. E. Eberts (Little Rock) American Legion post announced today that it had completed arrangements for a "Rock Bowl" football game in the Little Rock high school stadium New Year's day between an all-star Arkansas collegiate team and a team from the 35th division at nearby Camp Robinson.

The Arkansas all-stars will be coached by Bill Walton and John Tucker, head coaches at Ouachita college and Arkansas Tech respectively. The army team will be coached by Lieut. George M. Seeman, who was an end on Nebraska's 1941 Rose Bowl team. Lieut. C. Ruebottom, former Nebraska fullback and Private R. S. Brown, former Muskingum, Ohio, college player, will be his assistants.

Lieut. Col. W. H. Browne, end coach at Nebraska in civilian life, will be athletic adviser to the 35th division's team.

Seeman announced that a squad of 30 would be selected from more than 250 applicants. The applicants included former pros with the St. Louis Gunners and lettermen from Haskell Institute, Nebraska, Missouri, Ohio State, Omaha and Kansas universities, Kansas State college and other midwestern schools, Seeman said.

Tigers Cage Practice To Start Monday

Large Turnout Of Players Expected; Two Lettermen Back

Basketball practice for the Smith-Cotton Tigers will begin Monday Coach Bob Rogers announced Saturday and more than twenty court players are expected to be out making the first attempts to make the squad. The first time in many seasons that the Tigers haven't had experienced lettermen out for the team is this season, there being only two for this winter's tryout.

Carl Russell and Jack Livengood, both who lettered last year, but who actually were not what were classed as the starting lineup material are reporting and expect to head the list of selections. Both boys have been doing some practice work the past several days so when warm-up time rolls around they will be ready.

The first game will be played on December 12 against the Smith-Cotton faculty team. The faculty has several players with college experience and their meeting the boys will be one of the hardest games of their fifteen game schedule.

Iowa Loses Close One To Nebraska

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 22 — (P)

—Nebraska power-housed the length of the field for one touchdown, then blocked a kick for another, to offset the brilliant passing of Tom Farmer and take a 14 to 13 victory today from Iowa in an inter-conference football game. The contest snapped a five-game Cornhusker losing streak.

Farmer's amazing ability to throw the ball while a stiff wind swept the length of the field and snow swirled down sent Iowa into a 13 to 0 lead before Nebraska's power began to tell against the Hawkeyes, who were badly battered by Minnesota a week ago. He scored both touchdowns and kicked one extra point.

Huskers Go To Work

Then Nebraska went to work. Dale Bradley came out to the 28 with the kickoff and the touchdown march was on. The Huskers scored in 16 plays, nine of them with fullback Vike Francis, who scored.

Iowa was fading and early in the fourth period Husker power brought the break that won. A fumble had cost the Hawkeyes five yards and Farmer got set to punt. The pass was low and the ball had just left his foot when end Fred Preston got in front of it, sending the leather flying backward for 20 yards into the end zone.

Back with the ball went Green. He reached it but couldn't hold onto it as Nebraska's poured in. There were three of the Huskers there and end Jack Hazen got the touchdown. Francis split the middle with the kick that won the game.

Iowa State Saved From The Cellar

AMES, Ia., Nov. 22—(P)—Kansas State saved itself from a joint cellar berth with Iowa State in the Big Six here today by tying the Cyclones, 12 to 12, in the final 1941 conference football battle for both teams.

The result left Iowa State on the bottom of the standings with no victories, four defeats and a tie, to one triumph, three losses and a tie for the Wildcats.

U. C. L. A. Bows Out To Santa Clara, 13 To 13

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 22—(P)—Winding up its 1941 grid campaign, Santa Clara's Broncos outscored the University of California at Los Angeles, 31 to 13, in a game that had its moments—some of them brilliant.

The seventh milestone in Sedalia Democrat-Capital Golden Glove boxing is being reached this year with the opening of training for boys of central Missouri at the old Y.M.C.A. gym, all made possible by Presiding Judge Lon Leslie, Associate Judges J. K. Lacey, Jr., and George M. Lane, who announced Friday they desired to see activity in the building on the part of Sedalia youth.

Work by recreational leaders started Friday afternoon in removing from the gym 49,500 cans of peaches, corn, beans and other canned vegetables and fruit, to another part of the building. It was stated it will take three days to remove the canned goods, which all-in-all weighs nearly twenty tons. The project, which is sponsored by the Democrat-Capital, and is being supervised by the WPA recreational program is meeting with hearty approval. Cooperation is being given, not only by the county court, but by officials on other WPA projects located in the building.

Much is being expected by the county court members. They are expecting not only to see the program helpful for Sedalia's youth, but they are expecting to see boys emerge from the program with higher ideals, physically strong, mentally awake, as well as being good sportsmen. It was with this in mind, to help Sedalia's younger people, that they rendered the decision Friday.

Thomas "Dolly" Farris, county recreational supervisor will be in charge of the gym and has assigned five leaders to handle the program for six days a week.

Wentworth Military Academy has lost a good coach, it has lost a man who had won a big spot in the hearts of every one of the 350 odd cadets at the academy—Captain Ralph Conger, varsity football and basketball coach. Coach Conger died suddenly during the second quarter of the annual Wentworth-Kemper Thanksgiving game during a heart attack.

The loss of the game was not so much, but when the loud speaker at the gridiron broke forth with the announcement, "Ladies and gentlemen, Coach Ralph Conger of Wentworth has died," more than forty faithful Wentworth football players broke into tears, their hearts broken because they had lost not only a coach, but a dear friend and pal. Not only did Wentworth lose one of their outstanding faculty members, but Lexington, Mo., lost a good citizen, a man who won the respect of everyone in Lexington through his connections at the academy.

With a heavy heart, and shaken by the sudden passing of Coach Conger, officials of Wentworth conferred with Kemper officials and elected to go on with the game. Col. Lester B. Wikoff, former varsity coach, now commandant at Wentworth, and assistant Coach Captain Kenneth Sylvester, took over and endeavored to muster the boys for the remainder of the game. They did an excellent job, although bowing to the Kemper team 14 to 0.

Smith-Cotton's Tigers have completed their football season in fourth position in the Central Missouri conference. As a matter of fact they have a record which no team should be ashamed of, regardless of having won one game on the win side. The Tiger line has proven to be much stronger than was anticipated early in the season.

Looking back: Every time they were defeated it was by one touchdown, when they won it was by one touchdown, only one tie being on the schedule—that being with Kirksville, 7 to 7. The largest score made against Smith-Cotton was that of the Marshall game 14 to 6. Clinton was next with 16-6; then Jefferson City won 12-7; then Sedalia scratched a game, beating Columbia 6-0. Kirksville was the last.

Coach Jimmy Obermiller, tried everything to see what would click, but he was unable to shake that one-touchdown jinx. But he doesn't feel too bad over the season. He has given boys from freshmen to seniors a chance at the team—experience gained by two freshmen, the sophomores and juniors will no doubt result in a team unbeatable next year—WE HOPE.

Twenty-five boys made first team letters this year, while eleven chalked up second team letters. May I suggest that the school not wait until the last of the year to give the boys their letters. There are thirteen seniors who lettered and they would like to strut about the school the rest of the year with it on their sweaters. GIVE THEM THE LETTERS AND MAKE THE BOYS HAPPY!

Notre Dame Has A Close Call Saturday

Fighting Irish First Undefeated Season Since Knute Rockne

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 22—(P)—Notre Dame's mighty football warriors achieved their undefeated season today, first since the 1929 Knute Rockne team, but they had the scare of their lives before it went into the record book.

The Irish defeated Southern California, 20-18, but the Trojans, credited with only a so-so season, were the first to score. The west coast eleven trailed only 13-12 at the half and then roared out with a late fourth period touchdown to pull within two points of Notre Dame.

Bertelli Saves Day

Again it was Angelo Bertelli's passing mastery that saved Notre Dame and gave it a final 1941 rating of eight victories and the scoreless tie against Army. Two Bertelli passes set up the second Irish touchdown and he rammed an 18-yard throw to teammate Fred (Dippy) Evans for the third period touchdown—the one that gave Notre Dame its margin of victory.

Bertelli completed 13 of 21 passes for 156 yards. His total for the season—his first in college football—was recorded as 123 completions, 70 completions, 10 interceptions and 1,027 yards gained.

With Robert McCall, Marquette left half, passing the Hilltoppers went into action, a 26-yard pass to end Ray Carlson finding touchdown territory.

John Goodyear kicked the point.

Marquette Scores

Shortly thereafter, Charles Beyer covered Mathews' fumble on the Sooner 29, and Fullback Douglas Renzel went to town, cracking the tackles until they gave way and letting him through for 14 yards and a touchdown. Goodyear again added the point.

But that was all for Marquette. Oklahoma took charge to score twice more in the second, three times in the third and three more in the final quarter, picking fumbles out of the air, intercepting passes and in general playing havoc with the hill-toppers' offensive thrusts.

First Team Letters To 25 Tigers

First Time Since 1929 Freshmen Receive "S" Letters

Smith-Cotton football players have been lettered, twenty-five to receive the Varsity "S" and eleven will receive a Second Team "S". Two Freshmen will receive Varsity letters this year, the first time Freshmen have won such honors since back in 1929.

Coach Jimmy Obermiller will see thirteen Seniors graduate this spring while he smiles at the ten Juniors and two Freshmen Varsity letter men who will be back in the fall of 1942 along with the eleven team lettermen. All of the Juniors and two Freshmen have seen much experience this past season and should be the making of a championship team next year.

Many Letters Given

In making the "lettermen" announcement Coach Obermiller said, "I guess we will have more Varsity letters out than any other school, but they all earned it because they all saw the necessary number of quarters to obtain them."

Varsity letters go to the following boys: Carl Russell, Harold De Jarnett, Bob Boothe, Charles Wingate, Bobbie Bothwell, Bob Green, J. W. Rissler, Jim Anderson, Dewey Stevens, Bob Vilmer, Jack Delph, Lewis Wheeler, J. B. Woodward who are all Seniors, and Virgil Lander, Otis Thomas, Floyd Tate, Pearly Hall, Archie Allen, Charles Johnson, Danny Van Dyne, Kenneth Lutgen, Kenneth Strole, Robert Parker, all Juniors, and Gordon Capes, Tommy Gardner, both Freshmen.

Second team letters to Frank Meier, Herb Young, Phil Bergmann, all Seniors; Tom Bast, Harry Smith, William White, Frank Harrington, Cecil Swift, Frank Sedlak all Juniors, Dude McFarland and Lauren Williams, both Sophomores.

The football squad is now looking forward to their annual invitation from the Sedalia Kiwanis club for a banquet which will probably be held the first week in December.

Ping Pong Tourney Is A Big Success

The County-Wide Ping Pong tournament sponsored by the WPA Recreational Program last Friday at the Salvation Army recreational center, proved very successful. Thirty-two entries were received and played in the four divisions, while parents and spectators numbered nearly as many as the players.

Every game played was an interesting and keen contest. The contestants were closely matched in their group ages. Probably the most exciting contest was in the boy's division for 14 years and older contestants. In this division Ray Murray met Buddy Arnold in the finals, with Arnold taking the first of a three game series in quick fashion, but he slowed in the last two games and Murray succeeded in edging him out.

Prizes were awarded to the champions and runner up players by several Sedalia retail merchants.

Winners: Division 13 years old and under; boys, Dale Cramer, Horace Mann school, champion, John Thomas, Whittier school, second. Girls, Tiny Bennett, Washington school, champion, and Doris Hudson, Whittier school, second.

Division for 14 years old and over: boys Ray Murray, Smith-Cotton high school, champion, Buddy Arnold, Smith-Cotton, second. Girls, Dorothy Litz, Smith-Cotton, champion and Nola Jones, Washington school, second.

Gophers Are The Big Ten Champions

Defeat Badgers By 41-6; Sixth Title In Eight Years

By EARL HILLIGAN

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 22—(P)—Minnesota's mighty tide of football empire—with Captain Bruce Smith brilliantly riding the crest of the wave—swept over Wisconsin today to carry the Gophers to the Big Ten and national football championships.

With Smith winding up his college career in all-America fashion, Minnesota rolled over the Badgers, 41 to 6, to run their winning record of six Western conference titles in eight years.

This Minnesota team was one of the all-time great Gopher eleven today—and Smith was the big reason. When he hobbled from the game late in the final period after figuring in four Gopher touchdowns, the crowd of 52,894 stood to give him a mighty ovation.

Minnesota's great line gave Wisconsin little chance today, smothering the Badger attack monotonously except for one Badger surge.

Are National Leaders

The Gophers, leaders of the Associated Press national rankings poll through most of the season, didn't have Smith in the lineup as they started. But about five minutes later, the blond Gopher bombshell went in—and on five plays Minnesota had a touchdown. His 45-yard pass to Bill Garnaas came just three plays before he galloped 18 yards through right tackle for the first Gopher score. From then on Smith was as "hot" as the 26-degree weather was cold.

With 12 seconds of the period remaining Smith pounded off right tackle again. He raced 39 yards before being surrounded at the Wisconsin seven. Alertly, he whipped a lateral to Bob Fitch, who continued on over the Badger goal line.

Early in the second period Smith intercepted Bud Seelinger's first pass of the day, then raced 42 yards to the Wisconsin 11. Bill Daley crashed to the two-foot mark on two plays before driving across.

Wisconsin's 73-Yard March

Then it was that Wisconsin staged the 73-yard march that saved the Badgers from a shut-out. Pat Harder started and finished the drive, running over three Gophers with sheer power and over the Minnesota goal line.

Just before the period ended Vic Kulbitski intercepted Seelinger's pass at the Wisconsin 25 and raced unmolested for another Gopher score.

In the third period Smith's passing added to Minnesota's lead. His shot to Judd Ringer helped Minnesota to the Wisconsin 20 and then the Gopher captain passed to Daley, who caught the ball at the Badger 15 and raced over the payoff stripe. In the final period, Smith suffered a recurrence of the knee injury which handicapped him in several recent games, but Minnesota scored anyway. Little Bud Higgins fired a 26-yard touchdown aerial to Bob Sandberg just before the final gun.

There were many observers today who ranked this Minnesota eleven on even terms with that great undefeated and untied 1934 Minnesota team. In 1935 Minnesota had another "perfect" season and in 1940 came through again with a no-defeats-or-ties record. The season which ended today capped a remarkable record for the 10-year Bernie Bierman regime.

Northwestern Walks All Over Illinois, 27 To 0

EVANSTON, Ill., Nov. 22—(P)—Robert C. Zuppke, the little man no longer there, ended a brilliant 29-year coaching career today emotionally watching his last "fighting Illini" go down to a crushing defeat before Northwestern, 27 to 0. The game also ended the intercollegiate career of Northwestern's Bill De Correvont, who scored three of the Wildcats' four touchdowns before leaving the game in the third period.

Before the game, the 62-year-old Zuppke, who resigned a few days ago, was presented with a silver plaque in recognition of his sportsmanship and long service at Illinois. Kenneth L. Wilson, Northwestern's director of athletics, who played on Zuppke's 1919 team, made the presentation. Zuppke also was given an "N" blanket, the first he had ever received. He failed to earn one in his undergraduate days at Wisconsin.

County Court Grants Use Of YMCA Gym

Training Will Start Monday Under Strict Supervision Of The Recreation Program

The call for Golden Glove boxers in Central Missouri, has been made and training will begin on Monday in the old YMCA "gym" under the supervision of the WPA Recreational program. Several leaders with boxing experience have been put on the project to instruct boys and prepare them for the 1942 Golden Glove championship fights.

In the past several years Sedalia boxers have been definitely handicapped in their training quarters. For two years they, sought to condition themselves in a small room at the fire station, last season they worked out part time at the Smith-Cotton high school, and the old National Guard armory, but the conditions were such the boys never benefited from their work. The results were very definite in the Kansas City Regional tournament.

Kindly Feeling For Boys

A decision had been made not to hold the Gloves tournament this year if suitable quarters could not be found and Friday the Pettis county court notified Thomas "Dolly" Farris, WPA recreational supervisor for Pettis county, that he could use the old YMCA "gym" for the fall and winter program. It is directly through the kind feeling towards the Sedalia youth that the county court judges have granted the use of the old "gym."

The Golden Gloves for the seventh year is being sponsored by the Sedalia Democrat-Capital Co., publishers of the Democrat and Capital newspapers. The tournaments have met with wide approval of the sport fans throughout central Missouri, in spite of the fact that no boy has been able to survive the Kansas City tournament and go on to Chicago.

Two years ago three Sedalia district boys advanced to the finals in Kansas City but failed to make the final hurdle. At that time the boys all complained of not having proper training facilities and were not in condition to fight as many battles as they experienced in Kansas City.

Failed Last Year

In the last regional tournament this district failed to go any further than the quarter-finals, and at that time it was decided to either get proper quarters or quit. Already, as soon as the word was out on the 1942 plans, twelve boys swarmed the Democrat-Capital sports department and signed up for this fall and winter boxing season. It is expected before the last of this week there will be at least twenty-five to thirty boys in daily training and as soon as enough boys are in condition their first ring experience will be given a trial bout. It is hoped the first trial bout will be ready for December 1.

Several Champions Back

Among the "old timers" who are back and ready and desiring action are: Dean Murray, three time open champion and once a novice champion, Cecil Landers, who served in the flyweight division and the bantamweight division, winning both divisions in Sedalia. Virgil Landers, who back in 1938 saw his first ring experience, and who took a vacation until late last year, is going to put the gloves on this winter.

Indications are the Wentworth Military Academy will be back in the swing for this season with "Aggie" McMillian, former Clinton champion, leading the team. McMillian has been out of the local running for the past two seasons, but is now in school at Wentworth. The Kemper Military Academy has brought to Sedalia two boys who won upon championships, and will probably be back for their third season in Sedalia tournaments.

Fort Leonard Wood Here

Several boxers at the University of Missouri have already contacted Sedalia, inquiring of the tournament and indicating they desired to enter this season.

Fort Leonard Wood will be well represented in Sedalia as their team has been requested to "clear" through Sedalia. Several boys at the army camp have appeared in Sedalia and other tournaments in this section, but requested coming to Sedalia for 1942.

Boys desiring to enter can fill out the entry blank found in this paper and mail to the Democrat-Capital sports desk.

Presented With Watch

Miss Lively, in responding to Mr. Giger's presentation thanked the entire organization for the thoughtfulness in giving her this beautiful gift. In her remarks she brought out that the thing that had made her work interesting was observing day after day in the handling of claims what a great thing life insurance meant to widows and orphans. She urged those gathered there to continue on because from her experience she knew of no better service that could be rendered to the people than the protection that life insurance gives to those who need it.

Manager Riley G. Cunningham then presented to Mrs. A. J. Campbell a Metropolitan gold and diamond studded thirty year service medal recognizing the long and faithful service of Dr. A. J. Campbell, who has been employed as an examiner for the Metropolitan since 1907. This was presented to Mrs. Campbell due to the fact that Dr. Campbell was unable to be there. Mrs. Campbell accepted it very graciously and thanked the company in Dr. Campbell's behalf.

Mr. Cunningham gave a report to those present regarding the Metropolitan's recent meeting in Hot Springs at which the president of the company LeRoy A. Lincoln, presided. At this meeting Mr. Lincoln announced that beginning January 1 the company was changing its policies to a two and three-fourths per cent reserve. This change is necessary due to the low interest rates. The premiums of a life insurance policy are based on mortality and interest earnings. Therefore, after January 1 it will require more money to buy dollars for future delivery.

Mr. Cunningham then recognized the leaders of the district. James T. Denny presented to Mrs. R. G. Cunningham a beautiful box of assorted roses on behalf of the entire Sedalia district and office force. This was a token of welcome to the Sedalia district this being the first official party since their arrival.

Mr. Denny gave a brief report on the convention recently held at Hot Springs. The meeting was closed with some very timely remarks from Rev. H. U. Campbell.

MOST EVERYONE knows Hydra-Matic Drive* is a work saver. But few realize that it's a gas saver, too. Here are the facts: Hydra-Matic is engineered with four speeds forward. That permits slower engine speeds. In fourth speed, for example, 1,000 engine revolutions will propel your Olds Hydra-Matic 2,130 feet as against 1,700 feet for a similar car with standard transmission. Hence, you get more mileage on gas—or, conversely, save gas on any given trip. Then, too, Hydra-Matic's automatic shifting prevents lags and consequent waste of fuel. The net result—gasoline savings of 10 to 15 per cent. Why not drive the easy Hydra-Matic way—in a new Olds B-44—and be money ahead on gas!

DEFENSE COMES FIRST WITH OLDSMOBILE!

Oldsmobile's great productive capacities are devoted first to the manufacture of artillery shell and airplane cannon. Remaining facilities are employed in producing, in limited number, Oldsmobile's new B-44—a car that's stamina-styled and stamina-built. Born on the coast of Maine, where she spent her childhood, Mrs. Gilchrist has a long line of sea-minded ancestry, and tells thrilling stories of our early maritime tradition.

A pianist of unusual talent, she illustrates her lecture with colorful sea music, and with paintings.

The authenticity of her data has been praised by seamen. She has given long study to maritime history and is known as an authority on the sea and ships, heretofore considered the prerogative of men.

program, the finding of cases in the early stages, and keeping contact suspect cases under close observation.

Tests Sponsored

For several years past the local society has sponsored and financed a tuberculin testing survey among the school children of the county. This is done as an educational campaign, also to help find children that are contacts to active cases of tuberculosis. All children that show positive tuberculin tests are to be referred to their private physician as to the advisableness of a chest X-ray. If an X-ray is advised, and the parents are unable to pay for such, the local society pays for the chest X-ray. When children are found with positive tuberculin tests the nurse makes a home visit to discuss the situation with the parents. So far, over 5000 tuberculin tests on school children have been made possible in this county by the local Tuberculosis Society. A graduate nurse, especially trained in this work is hired by the local society to do the tuberculin testing survey.

Any time a local physician has a patient that he feels needs a chest X-ray, and that patient cannot afford such an examination, the expense of this X-ray is paid by the local society. So far over 1000 such X-rays have been paid for by the local society.

Those X-rays are taken at the Lattimore laboratory Bothwell hospital, and are then sent to the Supt. of the Missouri State Sanatorium for a reading.

In several instances the local society has helped individuals in various ways—such as furnishing necessary medications, milk, etc., and also furnished cod liver oil to children that were contacts or suspects. This was done as a preventive measure.

In 1938 the local Tuberculosis Society helped secure the services of a public health nurse for Pettis county by furnishing $200 of her salary the first year. The Public Health Nurse works closely with the Tuberculosis Society in carrying on a year round tuberculosis service.

Through the combined efforts of this and other county Societies the State Society, private physicians, county court and nurses the death rate of tuberculosis in Missouri has been reduced from 49.50 per 100,000 population in 1937 to 47.5% in 1939.

Remember that all this work is done by local societies made available by the Christmas Seal sale.

Voice Caution Against Nazi Peace Move

Intimations One To Be Attempted During Winter

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Cautioning the world's democracies to be on guard, the White House said today that Germany was preparing a winter peace offensive embracing proposals ostensibly restoring economic and political independence to continental Europe, but actually leaving Hitler master of a string of "puppet states."

Stephen T. Early, a presidential secretary, disclosed at a press conference that this government had reports of such a plan. A reporter had asked whether an "economic peace" was about to be proposed by the Nazis.

Reading from a penciled memorandum as it prepared for the question, Early said both President Roosevelt and the State Department had received information from German European sources that a conference was to be called either in December or January "on some occasion considered propitious by Germany."

He added that invitations already were going forth from Germany to "some belligerents, the axis powers, and some neutral European nations."

WELCOME BACK SANTA With Your Pack of CHRISTMAS CHEER

Amid the blare of horns, the beat of drums, the footsteps of marching bands, a galaxy of brightly decorated Christmas floats, and in a beautifully decorated city all set for his coming, Old St. Nick will arrive and parade the streets of Sedalia, Wednesday afternoon beginning promptly at 2:30 o'clock.

You must be on hand for this is the one big Christmas event you won't want to miss.

And you will want to visit Sedalia's stores where Christmas merchandise, all brightly displayed, is holding the multicolored spotlight . . . and this Christmas you will want to SHOP EARLY!

Mark that calendar, set the alarm, put it down in your memo pad, tell your friends to remind you, make a note of it, and don't forget . . . this is the year you are going to do your Christmas shopping early!

Remember last year? How at the last minute, just the day before Christmas, you were caught in the rush of late shoppers . . . how merchandise selections were not too complete, how every time you reached for an article eight other late shoppers were trying to get the same item? DON'T LET IT HAPPEN AGAIN! Especially not when it's so easy to avoid.

Try this plan. As soon as you've finished reading this, start making out your gift list. Check the advertisements in this edition of the Democrat-Capital and subsequent editions and save wear and tear on your nerves and clothes by avoiding the rush through early Christmas shopping!

Serial Story . . .

Lady By Request

. . . by Helen R. Woodward

THE STORY: It did not matter that pretty, red-haired Diana Thorpe had told lawyer Richard Thorpe to go to the devil, stormed from his office—except what must have happened to her outburst? Anyway, it was Diana's last day with the firm. Having resisted Thorpe's overtures, wounded his vanity, she had already been given notice, now wondering if she could find other work in the city, or if she would have to return to her farm home. She is ashamed of her show of temper, decides to re-view and apologize, meets Stephen Curt leaving the building. He has followed her, his interest captured by the beautiful, fiery girl.

DINNER WITH STEPHEN!

CHAPTER III

"WHY are you going back?" Stephen Curt asked, his gaze sweeping over her flushing face. "Forget something?"

Diana, hearing the low, sure notes of his voice, felt that she was listening to all authority and understanding.

"I was going back to apologize," she said simply.

"Don't do it," he commanded, and drew her aside from the crowd. "Thorpe deserved every word you said. I happen to know he's somewhat of a bully. So don't spoil your little victory by retrenchment."

"I'm afraid it wasn't a very ladylike thing to say," she admitted wistfully, and saw him shake with laughter.

"Ladylike!" he chuckled. "So you were reared in that tradition, were you? My child, you would make a fine museum piece to be viewed on Wednesdays and Fridays only!"

"It's not nice of you to laugh at me," she said reproachfully.

He sobered instantly. "No, it isn't. But then, perhaps I was not taught your sort of kindness. And we can't stand here in the crowded lobby forever, exchanging confidences. Come—have dinner with me."

"But for heaven's sake—why?" Diana demanded in utter astonishment.

"Because I want to know more of a girl who thinks it a virtue to be ladylike."

"You don't know my name."

"You can remedy that with two words—you needn't tell me your middle one." He continued to seem highly amused by her fencing.

"I'm not sure it's proper," she said stiffly. "I'm not accustomed to dining with strange men."

"I'm sure you're not. As far as that goes, you know quite well who I am."

Diana was completely bewildered. From her knowledge of Stephen Curt, brief though it was, gleaned from his writings and the glimpse of him in Thorpe's office, she would never have believed him the sort of man to seek a dinner date with a discharged stenographer. He was definitely not the type.

HE was regarding her with concealed amusement, his blue eyes crinkling with laughter. "Have you summed up all the reasons why it would be profitable for you to dine with me?" he asked slyly.

Diana flushed, wondering if in addition to his other accomplishments, he could also read minds. She retorted, "Exactly. I hope you choose a much better place than the one to which I am accustomed."

He took her arm and guided her toward the doorway. "I'll do better than that. I'll let you select the place."

"Then let's make it the Savola," she suggested with the audacious eagerness of a child. "I've always wanted to go there."

Moving along the snowy street beside Stephen Curt, Diana was Diana could not believe it was really she, dining in style at the Savola with famous Stephen Curt. He ordered an excellent dinner from a waiter who called him by name, and then turned to Diana and smiled. "Well—for the purpose of the record, what is your name?"

was. Also surprised to realize that she liked him tremendously. Liked the way he swept everything before him, making people do as he wanted. Since coming to the city she had not met many men—had not been in the right places. So she had only her father and Bill Jackson—and Richard Thorpe—to measure Stephen by.

Her father was always saying, "Time for Curt," and hovered near the radio, grinning broadly, saying fondly, "It's a wonder someone don't bump that fellow off!"

Diana smiled, thinking how proud her parents would be to know she was dining with Stephen Curt. They'd think she was doing all right in town! In spite of being out of a job.

Stephen said, seeing her smile, "Your thoughts must be worth more than a penny."

"They are. I was thinking of my father. He's one of your special admirers. He'll be glad to know I met you."

"And you? Do you listen to my broadcasts?" Diana laughed. "Afraid not. I was usually setting the table for supper when you were on the air."

He liked that. Any other woman he knew would have assured him of her undying interest and attention.

"Wait," Diana said suddenly, and stopped to buy a long green pencil from a toothless old crone in disreputable rags.

"Do you encourage every street beggar you see?" he demanded, half disapprovingly.

She flushed again. "I'm afraid I'm a sucker all right," she admitted apologetically.

"You'd better sterilize that pencil before you use it," he growled. She looked at it, startled. "I hadn't thought of that," she said, and as they were crossing the street he saw her let the pencil fall against the curb. A creature of impulse, he decided.

The Savola was all that she had imagined it. Many people knew tones, and stared at the pretty girl who accompanied him. When they were seated Diana glimpsed her make-up hastily in her compact, saw that she looked quite all right. But she still did not believe that it was really she, dining in style at the Savola with Stephen Curt.

HE ordered an excellent dinner from a waiter who called him by name, and then during the wait that followed turned to Diana and smiled. "Well, then—for the purpose of the record, what is your name?"

"Diana Tucker."

"Nice name. You were right when you were thinking that I don't go in for this sort of thing usually."

Diana wondered uncomfortably if this man knew every thought that crossed her mind. "Then why did you insist on bringing me here?" she asked.

"For a very definite reason," he surprised her by answering, "but it's a story that will have to be led up to gradually and gently, else those ladylike sensibilities of yours will be definitely shocked."

"I think I can stand a few more jokes," she answered dryly. "So proceed with your story."

Stephen Curt fixed her with that steady blue gaze before he answered. He saw character, a definite look of good breeding, as well as a delicately etched beauty which he suspected might one day become warm and glowing.

"You'll do," he said.

"For what?"

"You'll be looking for another job, I suppose?"

"Of course. I have to work—or go back home."

"Home?"

"My people live on a farm in the lower part of the state."

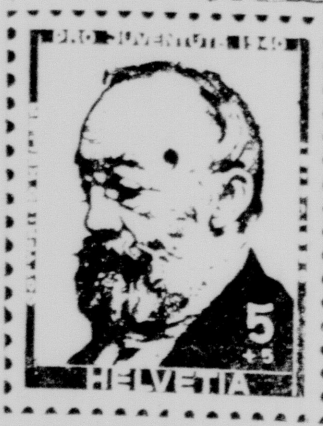

"I see. You don't want to go back to the farm, do you?"

"Decidedly not!" Diana answered fervently.

"Then you needn't."

Stories in Stamps

Swiss Series Honors Heroes of Literature

SWITZERLAND'S "Pro Juventute" stamps, semi-postals first issued in 1913, pay homage each year to persons outstanding in the nation's literature or history.

The stamp above, issued in 1940, honors Gottfried Keller (1819-1890), a celebrated Swiss novelist and poet and who has been called one of the best modern short story writers.

Keller was born in Zurich of parents who, like the parents of so many famous men, were poor. He read widely while a youth and chose painting for his profession.

Illness, poverty and little success in his chosen field forced his return from Munich to Zurich. During the next four years he studied, wrote lyrics, and turned to literature.

From 1850 to 1855 Keller spent lean years in Berlin, but oddly enough, they marked a turning point in his career. He wrote a four-volume biographical novel, and the first volume of his collection of short stories.

His second successful period extended from 1876, when he retired from his office as secretary of the canton in Zurich, to his death in 1890.

From Germany come reports that the Reich issued a special stamp in commemoration of the return of parts of Carniola, Styria, and Carinthia. They are Alpine regions which were a part of Austria before World War I, dismembered to help constitute Yugoslavia, conquered recently by the Germans.

New issues: British Solomon

Islands have issued an upright 10-shilling deep violet and green bearing native huts. . . . Bohemia and Moravia will issue five stamps to commemorate the birth of Count Istvan Szechenyi, 19th century Magyar statesman. . . . Hungary released four stamps marking the 150th anniversary of the birth of Szechenyi in addition to a 32-filler orange picturing the Budapest suspension bridge to symbolize the count's interest in improving transportation.

Postal authorities in Great Britain have printed stamps for use in those French colonies affiliated in spirit with the Free France movement led by Gen. Charles de Gaulle. Inscriptions include "Libre France" and the Lorraine Cross, symbol of Free France. Similar series are being prepared for French India, French Oceania and New Caledonia in addition to those completed for the Cameroons and French Equatorial Africa.

The Uruguay government has contracted with a London firm to print a series of stamps honoring the early 19th century Uruguayan poet Francisco Acuna de Figueroa. The series is expected to be released in December.

WITH the exception of letters to prisoners and interned civilians, all other mail service from the United States to Occupied France has been suspended. Mail for unoccupied France is still accepted, however.

Modernize A Diner At Shops In Sedalia

Elegantly Fitted Up and Placed In Regular Service

Once again the Missouri Pacific lines caused much admiration from patrons using the Sunshine Special when diner 10040 was put into service after being completely overhauled and modernized at the local passenger car shops.

Diner 10040 last week was released from shop and immediately put in service in consist of the Sunshine Special, in company with seven other diners of this type, which have become known as "the blue mirror diners."

The new diner, like its seven companion cars, is distinguished by its venetian blinds, new type low ceilings, harmonious color combination and excellence of space utilization. However, it is the first of the series to have fluorescent lights and the extruded aluminum dehydrated double sash with satin finish.

The entire interior of the car was completely remodeled and equipped with multi-vent hinged air distributing panels with each panel being equipped with a special type button directly below control adjusting screw. This is in order the air condition equipment may be cleaned in a short length of time.

The walls and ceiling of car is finished in a harmonious color combination of tan. The dining chairs are of the latest type and design and with the plush being of red material. The car has a standard seat arrangement, with places at tables for 36 passengers.

Observation Type Windows
Between the windows, which are of the observation type allowing the patrons a splendid view of the countryside as the train moves on its way, are oblong mirrors, tinted blue, and flanking each doorway are two circular blue-tinted mirrors. The reflection of the mirrors, along with the color scheme of the car, presents a very beautiful and outstanding setting.

Married Fifty Years

Mr. and Mrs. M. Bradfield observed their golden wedding anniversary at their home, 418 North Hurley, Saturday, November 22. They were married six miles north of Sedalia, on the farm then owned by N. H. Gentry.

They have reared three children, which they took when they were very young, Lenville Bradfield, of Leavenworth, Kas., Mrs. Roy Edwards and Mrs. Vernon Rumsey, Sedalia.

stainless steel equipment and silent air mover.

The latest rebuilt diner is another link in the long fleet of modern equipment being put in service by the Missouri Pacific and to the supervising forces and workmen of Sedalia shops goes much credit for the splendid work in making the Missouri Pacific one of the outstanding railroads of the country when it comes to modern equipment and service. Not only are first-class passenger cars being built, but locomotives are being modernized and freight cars being built with the most up-to-date equipment.

The work of rebuilding dining car 10040 was under the supervision of G. T. Callender, superintendent of shops, and H. M. Kelly, general car foreman.

Readily Join The Red Cross

The Red Cross drive for membership in Hughesville has far exceeded the expectation of the chairman, Mrs. Lon Slaton, and helpers, Mrs. Leland Bealert and Mrs. Berry Elliott. November 11 the Mesdames Slaton, Bealert and Elliott started on the drive for Red Cross membership in Hughesville and vicinity. The merchants, business houses, business men, post office force, Hughesville school, all signed up 100 per cent enrollment. Towns-men, farmers and members of this vicinity closely followed suit, only a very few declining to enroll.

Mrs. Slaton requests any one who has not been solicited to call one of the three workers, because due to absence from home at the time of call a few people have not been called upon. They have one $10 contribution.

The Junior Red Cross is also being organized in the Hughesville high and grade school and a definite report will be given at a later date.

Hughesville will have one day a week, known as Red Cross Day. The meeting place will be at the social service building, which is being given to use for work for the Red Cross by the members of the Presbyterian church. The building will be opened at 9 a. m. and close at 5 p. m., and thus will be made available as a meeting place for the women that care to work. A hot drink will be served at the noon hour by the leader to all those who bring their lunch. If anyone has a sewing machine that they would care to loan for this period, please phone Hughesville 2F2 or write Box 86, Hughesville.

Our word for after-dinner coffee, demitasse, is taken from the French.

Delicious Repast At The Nursery

Many kind hearted persons remembered the children of the Melita Day Nursery on Thanksgiving and donations received supplied a very delicious dinner, which was served at 4:30 o'clock on the evening before. There were forty children in attendance and a number of mothers.
